HOPKINSVILLE, KY.DEMPESEY CONVENTION.THE NOMINATION MADE ON THE FIFTH BALLOT.Free Silver Resolution Passed by a Two-thirds Vote, Afterwards Made Unanimous —Opposition Partly From Conservative Silver Men.The Railroad district convention was called to order at Owensboro Wednesday at 2 p. m. by Chairman Henry Burnett.General Thos. E. Moss, of Paducah, was made temporary chairman and Chas. M. Meacham, of Hopkinsville, was made temporary secretary and all other members of the democratic press assistants. The following committee on credentials was appointed: First District, W. M. Reed, of Marshall; Second District, Malcolm Yeaman, of Henderson; Third District S. R. Crewdson, of Logan; Fourth District, H. A. Somers, of Hardin.
The convention then took a recess, waiting the report of the committee.
At 4:15 the committee on credentials reported that there were no contests and that all the counties were represented in person or by proxy. On motion of J. E. Rowe, of Davies, the temporary organization was made permanent. On motion a call of the counties was then begun for nominations. Ollie James, of Crittenden, nominated Dr. R. L. Moore; John S.
Rhea, of Logan; J. F. Dempsey; C.
N. Pendleton, of Davies; F. B. Richardson; Charles K. Wheeler, of Mc-Cracken; W. G. Morrow; W. M. Reed, of Benton; Tipton A. Miller.The roll was then called on the first ballot and resulted as follows: Dempsey, 116 3-5; Richardson, 60 3-5; Morrow, 29 1-10; Miller, 34 1-10; Moore, 29 5-5. Before the call was completed Mr. McElroy authorized the withdrawal of his name. Allen county was unrepresented. Mr. McElroy declining to cast the vote of that county. After the first ballot the convention adjourned until 8 o'clock Wednesday morning.The convention reassembled promptly at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, but as many of the delegates were late straggling in, a recess of thirty minutes was taken.
When called was again called the convention immediately proceeded to take the second ballot for railroad commissioner. It resulted as follows:
Dempsey, 117 3-5;
Richardson, 60 3-5;
Morrow, 29 1-10;
Miller, 34 1-10;
Moore, 29 5-5.The next ballot was as follows:
Dempsey, 117 3-5;
Richardson, 60 3-5;
Morrow, 29 1-10;
Miller, 34 1-10;
Moore, 29 5-5.Under the rule adopted upon reassembling Morrow being the hindmost was dropped. The fourth ballot resulted as follows:
Dempsey, 104 3-4;
Richardson, 68 3-4;
Miller, 46 3-4;
Morrow, 29 1-10;
Warren county, which had been voting for Dempsey, on this ballot changed to Moore. Miller, under the rule, was then dropped.The fifth ballot was as follows:
Dempsey, 107 2-3;
Richardson, 85 2-3;
Moore, 88 2-3.Ten of the Miller and Morrow votes had gone to Moore and Dempsey's friends loaned him Simpson and Warren in order that he might outlive Richardson.Ollie James then withdrew Moore's name and moved Dempsey's nomination by acclamation.
After the second ballot John S.
Rhea, of Logan, had offered the following resolutions, explaining that he would not press their adoption until after a nomination had been made: The Democrats of the First railroad commissioner district, in convention assembled, recommend the following to the Democracy of the State.1st. We declare with unflinching trust that it is a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose and collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue duties.2nd. We endorse the repeal of the McKinley law and the reduction of tariff duties accomplished by a Democratic congress, and demand that the reform thus begun shall be vigorously carried forward until the levy and collection of tariff taxes shall be limited to the actual necessities of the government when honestly and economically administered.3rd. We declare it to be an elementary principle of Democracy's faith that both gold and silver coin shall constitute the primary money of the country, that both metals shall be received for mintage without discriminating against either, and at the legal ratio that existed prior to 1873 (16 to 1) and we demand the unrestricted coinage of both gold and silver at this legal ratio and that both metals be declared full legal tender in payment of all debts public and private.As soon as Dempsey was declared the nominee, he prevailed and much enthusiasm. In this, McCracken county's vote—which had been cast by Mr. Wheeler—was changed, making the test vote of the vote taken from one column and added to the other, 82 to 187, not 162 as erroneously reported in several papers.) The counties of Fulton, Harlan and Hopkins were divided on account of having candidates, though they were all for silver. Metcalf was voted by an Owensboro delegate with a proxy, having no instructions on the question.
He represented his own and not that county's views. Ohio and Calloway were voted as a unit over the protests of some of the delegates. Todd was equally divided and agreed not to vote. The real anti-silver strength was perhaps 70 delegate votes, or about one-fourth of the vote. These votes were represented by not exceeding 40 delegates. It is an exceedingly liberal estimate to put the goldbugs in the convention at 60.After the vote was taken a committee was sent for Judge Dempsey and he appeared before the convention and graciously accepted the nomination for railroad commissioner.
The thanks of the convention to the chairman and secretaries and to the citizens of Owensboro were voted and then the convention adjourned sine die.The ballot resulted, for adjournment 96, against 181.
This restored order and Rhea then spoke to his resolutions. He made a red hot silver speech which was loudly cheered.Then Charley Wheeler, of Mc-Cracken, announcing that he was a free silver man, offered in a spirit of harmony, he said, the following:
"Resolved, That the failure of this convention to take action upon the financial question is not to be considered as antagonistic to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, but believed the state convention alone should settle such questions, the matter is respectfully referred to that body."This resolution was the result of a conference held by the conservative silver men the night before. It was supported by Mr. Wheeler in an eloquent speech and the gold bugs at once turned to this as the best chance for them to defeat the obnoxious resolutions.Before the vote was taken there were other speeches. Ollie James, of Crittenden, made an impressive and eloquent appeal to the friends of silver to stand by their principles and was lustily applauded.Judge Lige Walker, of Barford, claiming to be for 16 to 1, protested against the resolution, and urged that it was out of place in a district convention, and without precedent. He made a long argument, in which he incidentally remarked that he saw his son-in-law (Jake Rowe) was nearly bustin' to make a speech on the other side of the case.Jake Rowe followed Judge Walker and addressed much of his speech to "my dear father-in-law," amid applause and hearty laughter. He urged to know what "my dear father-in-law with all his gold is for," and in expressing his surprise said he had learned most all he knew in favor of silver from his beloved parent by marriage. Rowe appealed for an expression on silver and deprecated any cowardice on the subject. He said the gold men were here pleading for a postponement until the state convention, but at the state convention would be pleading for a postponement until the national convention.The previous question was then ordered and a vote taken. The substitute was lost by a close vote of 143 1-6 to 125 5-6, Todd county not voting.Judge Walker then moved to separate the resolutions and vote upon them by sections. This of course meant an attempt to strike out the silver resolution. Upon this occurred the only real test vote, as the Wheeler substitute was introduced by an honest money man, without the knowledge of the sound (?) money crowd that it was coming, by counties:The vote was as follows, by counties:

ty's vote—which had been cast by
Mr. Wheeler—was changed, making

HOWERTON HANGED.

A Jailor Tries to Fool a Mob, But Is Made To Deliver the Prisoner.MAMON, Ky., May 16.—Jonathan Howerton, who assaulted 15-year-old Anna Pierce, of Repton, two weeks ago, and for whose arrest a reward was offered by County Judge Moore, was captured in a corn field in Nigger Wool Swamp, Mo., by Carl Henderson, the railroad agent at Black-ford, Ky., and brought here and lodged in jail late yesterday evening.About midnight a mob of 80 or 40 took him from the jail and hanged him to a beam in a slaughter house.
The mob was quiet and orderly throughout, and the bodies were fired into the body of their victim, who died of strangulation. It was after 8 o'clock this morning when the body was cut down.

THE INDIAN FIERD.

Howerton was about 36 years old and had a bad reputation. He killed a negro in this county some years ago, with a club, and was without protection. He had been accused of other crimes. Anna Pierce is a mere child. The Pierce family and all his neighbors are bored and the dead man had started to accompany the girl home from a neighboring house, in company with other young men. The girl was managed to drop behind with Miss Pierce, out of hearing of the others, when he overpowered and choked her into submission.The frightened and tortured girl struggled and fought her assailant with all her strength, and finally succeeded in escaping from his grasp. She was found some hours later by a searching party, composed of her family and friends, who, after giving her the necessary attention, proceeded to scour the woods for Howerton.The search was kept up by citizens of that locality night and day until Howerton met his fate. The young girl is still in the hospital in a critical condition, with the chances against her recovery.

city.Both games will be called at 2:30

Charged with Hog Stealing.

Two negroes, Henry Owen and Martin Grant, were arrested near Guthrie the intended bride-to-morrow.Mrs. Frank Leslie, proprietor of Frank Leslie's Magazine, and at one time married to the late General Wilde, has left for England to be

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce JUDGE JOHN F. COOK
as a candidate for Circuit Court Judge in this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election November 5, 1895.

We are authorized to announce
JUDGE THOMAS P. COOK
as a candidate for Circuit Court Judge in this district, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

The "sound (!) money" men are well named. Though not numerous they are a noisy set.

Ex-Gov. Boies, of Iowa, has spoken out in meek and declared for honest constitutional money. So 'say all of the boys.

Pryor J. Ford defeated Jno. Bots in the Shelby Democratic primary election Saturday, called to nominate a candidate for representative. Ford was for McCrory and Bots for Macomber. Shelby is in Mr. McCrory's district. The nominee is 64 years old and a young man of unusual ability.

The goldbugs want "sound money," and the bimetalists want "honest money"—good honest silver dollars worth a hundred cents, to take the place of our present "50-cent" dollars, made such by dishonest legislation. The goldbug wants the rich man's dollar "sound" but is willing to keep the poor man's dollar upon the present "dishonest" basis. Let's have all our money "honest" as well as "sound."

The "sound (!) money" convention at Memphis this week is expected to be the biggest affair the goldbugs have ever held in the South. It has been advertised for nearly two months and a great many people will of course be attracted by curiosity who are not in sympathy with the object of the meeting. Louisville, Paducah, Henderson and Horse Cave are mentioned in the list of cities that will be represented by delegates chosen at public meetings.

In the death of Mr. Jas. R. Marrs, the veteran editor of the Lancaster Record, the press of Kentucky loses one of its oldest, best and most lovable members. He died of Bright's disease last Thursday, in his 56th year. Mr. Marrs for many years published the Danville Advocate, but sold that paper some years ago and moved to Lancaster. He was a courteous gentleman, popular wherever he was known, and as a newspaper man was loved and respected by the entire fraternity.

The handful of goldbugs in the city of Henderson, with Judge Vance at their head, assembled themselves into a "convention" Saturday, and in the presence of a crowd of amused spectators, mapped out a new policy for the Democratic party, endorsed Cleveland's contract with Rothchilds and repudiated the resolutions adopted at Owensboro, which, by-the-way were voted for by a majority of the delegates from Henderson county. The experience of Judge Vance less than a year ago ought to have taught him that his peculiar financial views are not popular in Henderson county. In fact in no county of the Second district are the Democrats yet ready to renounce the principles of the party at the dictation of the agents of foreign nations.

The silver men have selected as their slogan the phrase "honest money," which sounds about as well as the "sound money" of the goldbugs. Bimetalists are advocating the only honest primary money, honest in value, honest to the poor as well as the rich and honest to all concerned, when the government issues the material of which it is made shall be worth a dollar whether gold or silver. The policy of the goldbugs is to discredit silver and force upon the people a 50-cent dollar, made such by class legislation. They are opposed to making silver as "sound" as gold. They are opposed to dealing honestly with the people. Silver should be as "honest" as the government can make, or it should be retired altogether and paper substituted as token money.

THE OWENSBORO EPISODE.

The emphatic declaration of the Owensboro convention on the currency question was the direct result of the stupid conduct of the Louisville daily papers, that have deserted the teachings of the Democratic party and have been for months devoting their energies to disorganizing the party and wrecking its future. The convention was composed of thoughtful, conservative men, mindful of the party's interests above all things. Being good Democrats, the great body of them were in line with the party's principles on the currency question. Of the three hundred delegates present, fully four-fifths were for honest gold and silver money. There were a few extreme silver men intent on passing strong resolutions, but the great majority were perfectly willing to let the troublesome question rest until the state convention. But from the very first the seeds of discord were sown by the Louisville papers. They insisted on directing the eyes of the whole country to Owensboro as the center of "populist ideas" and carried columns of space with graphic accounts of the heroic work the friends of the "administration" and "sound (!) money" were doing. On the second day, emboldened by the conservatism shown, these false leaders and perverters of public sentiment loudly boasted that a great victory would be won and that the so-called apostles of "sound money" had found hardly enough silver men to make it interesting for them. It was such stuff and nonsense as this that changed the temper of the convention.

The Wheeler substitute was written at a conference of delegates representing three large silver counties—Christian, Crittenden and McCracken—and embodied the conclusions of some of the strongest honest money men at the convention. Not a goldbug was present and the minority had nothing to do with the resolution, except to throw their votes to it in the convention. The conservative plan would have prevailed but for the attempt of the goldbugs to adjourn the convention, before its nominee had been invited to appear, and failing in this to break it up or how down every man that attempted to speak. This disgraceful proceeding disgusted all decent men present and the three counties represented in the conference above mentioned cast their votes for the Rhea resolutions. The silver recommendation may have been premature and inexpedient, but it unquestionably represents the views of the Democrats of the district.

The Owensboro episode should prove a lesson to the Louisville rogues. If they continue their work of disruption, the people will go to the state convention determined to ram a silver resolution down their throats. If on the other hand the Louisville papers could see an inch from their noses and would show some regard for the party's welfare, they would cease to antagonize the party's often-expressed principle of free bimetalism and turn their attention to harmonizing the forces that will assemble in convention within less than five weeks. There is need for wisdom and sound judgment. The unwise and ill-timed visits of Secretary Carlisle, for the purpose of making public confusion a change of faith, will work further harm, and unless the Courier-Journal and Times—the Post is a hopeless case—pursue a more patriotic course between now and June 25, there is likely to be a repetition of the work at Owensboro on a larger scale. If the party is rushing to ruin the Courier-Journal has opened the throttle.

The Louisville Post wants the Democratic convention Post-poned. To be sure, to be sure.

BOY'S LET'S HARMONIZE.

With a full knowledge of the fact that we represent the great body of the Democratic party in our currency views, we call upon the gold fence to stop and think, unless they are bent on wrecking the party. They are in a hopeless minority, yet they are making more "sound" and displaying more zeal in a bad cause than they were ever known to show in a good one. All of the threats to rule or ruin, to desert the party, to vote with the Republicans come from this handful of malcontents. Their organs are dealing in abuse and calling names. Instead of conciliating they are exasperating.

At the February conference in Louisville, the wisest party leaders united in counseling peace, conservatism and sober judgment. The leading papers of the party have pursued a policy exactly opposite and have fomented strife that can only be healed by patriotic attention to party welfare. When the Courier-Journal discovered that its opposition to the new constitution was destroying the hope of party success, it quit talking about the constitution and turned its attention to the Russian bubble and the English sparrows. Let it realize now that it is doing the same thing and instead of filling its editorial columns with anti-silver leaders, let Mr. Watterson put the young men to discussing out worms, late frosts and the spring styles for bloomers. Stop this foolishness and when the Democrats meet at Louisville the wisdom of patriotic leaders will find a way out of all this turmoil. The platform of the state convention of 1891, upon which Brown was elected by 28,000 majority, would probably furnish a basis for harmony and satisfy both sides. This plank reads as follows and was endorsed by the Courier-Journal:

"Fourth—Recognizing the fact that the United States is the greatest silver producing country in the world and that both gold and silver were equally the money of the constitution from the beginning of the republic until the hostile and fraudulent legislation of the Republican party against silver, which unduly contracted the circulating medium of the country, and feeling that the great interests of the people demand more money for use in the channels of trade and commerce, we tender our gratitude to the Democratic party for their support of the silver vote in both houses in favor of the free coinage of silver, and demand its restoration to the position of equality before the law given to it by our fathers."

Surely no Democrat who stood on that platform in 1891 could find fault with it now.

We deprecate anything that savors of "examining for examination," but should be remiss of duty to those who wish to enter upon the important work of teaching, or to continue therein, if we should fail to indicate our interest in the necessity of careful attention to every branch and appear to have misled them by bringing them without fair warning face to face with a series of questions making those increased demands which are imperative if we wish to make some gain each year in the efficiency of the teaching force.

As will be inferred, it is well that in reviewing or prosecuting the work in which many of you are now engaged in training schools, or private study, we intimate with much particularity the chapter on orthography as found in your practical grammar; that you note all that is found in the writing-books in general use; that in composition you use the system of punctuation, capitalizing, paragraphing—in short all that relates to

MEN'S CLOTHING & HATS

Good form as well as correctness of expression. Composition is so important that every teacher ought to have a special study of some work not prescribed for use in the common schools; as Kellogg's Composition and Rhetoric, Bonnell's Composition, Butler's School English, etc. In addition to a thorough acquaintance with the adopted text-books on Civil Government, the constitution of the United States and the constitution of Kentucky should be well understood and state diplomas for use to designate some good text-books to be used in reviewing the higher branches required, in order that they may not be subjected to the unnecessary expense of purchasing works which they have in hand, that we indicate some which are deemed good and sufficient, though it is not to be inferred that similar standard works will be found to differ materially or to be deficient in treating the subjects touched upon in the text questions. In the matter of literature, Shaw's New History of English and American Literature is sufficient; in the science and art of teaching and psychology, White's School Management, Steele's Elementary Psychology and Rark's Psychology in Education are admirable; in algebra, any modern treatise of the academic grade, will serve our purpose; in geometry, Stiles, Wells or Wentworth; and in Latin, a familiarity with any standard grammar, in connection with Caesar and Virgil will suffice.

The deep interest now being manifested in the teacher's vocation, and the increasing number of scholarly and ambitious boys and gentlemen who are looking forward to this work are indicative of better things for the common schools, and encouraging to us who look with much concern for the improvement of our schools. Wide awake, well-equipped teacher, imbued with the spirit of his calling, is indispensable to every school. Without such a teacher, the student is thrown away—perhaps worse than thrown away. If you are striving for this excellence, we are doing you a service when we insist upon a higher standard of thought and attainment, and it is to you whom this is addressed.

The first and indispensable thing about medicine is that it shall be absolutely harmless and leave no room for reaction. Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills, which cure the system, have made so much stir in this section recently, as such a medicine. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot fail to be of benefit to any one who tries it. It is a positive specific for all forms of sick-headache, disordered liver, biliousness, etc. The tiny Tablets which accompany the pills are for building up the system. The two medicines together cost only 25 cents. Ask your druggist for free sample.

Needs attention at this time. If you are tired, weak and nervous, it is clear that your blood is impure, and without doubt there has been too much over-work or strain on brain and body. The course of treatment for such a condition is plain and simple. The blood must first be purified so that the nervous system, and in fact all the organs will be fed upon pure blood. Intelligent people without number have testified that the best blood purifier, nerve tonic and strength imparting medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Nervousness, loss of sleep and general debility all vanish when Hood's Sarsaparilla is persistently taken; in a word, health and happiness follow after taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Dr. Kollock in Nashville.
 The attention of the reader is especially called to the card of Dr. Matthew Henry Kollock, which is in another column. The Doctor is a native of Norfolk, Va., (1844) of a prominent Southern family of Savannah, Ga. He is quoted as a "standard authority by 'Encyclopedia Britannica'." page 188, the "largest and most important work of the kind," "written in its volume, each the size of a large French Bible. He is noted as the discoverer of the active principle of the 'Aspirin' specific for rheumatism of the face and limbs. The Doctor has been all over the world and has made many cures, especially at 'get prices.' Given up by other physicians."

Persons who sympathize with the wicked will rejoice with the D. E. Carr of 1235 Harrison street, Kansas City. He is an old sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism, his back has been troubled in this climate. Last winter he went up to Wisconsin, and in consequence has had another attack. It came upon him again very acute and severe. He said, "My joints swelled and became inflamed; sore to touch or almost look to look at. Upon the urgent request of my mother-in-law, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm to reduce the swelling and ease the pain, and to my agreeable surprise, it did both. I have used it to the finest thing for rheumatism, pains and swellings extant. For sale by R. C. Hardwick, Hopkinsville, Ed. R. Bogard, Lafayette, druggists."

FREAK FROM BELGIUM.

Bible Text Tattooed on a Belgian Immigrant's Forehead.
 As his name indicates, Eugene Brusaard, who arrived at New York recently from Rotterdam, is of French origin, though he was born in Antwerp, Belgium.

He is a tall, rather handsome young man, and, rather, when examined by a doctor of inquiry at Ellis Island, that he was a skilled ironworker.

The only noticeable peculiarity in his appearance was the fact of his hands, which he wore down to his eyebrows, his forehead being completely hidden by the adornment.

When he appeared in Mr. Edward McDevaney's office, the commissioner noticed this singularity, and asked the young man about it. Brusaard looked embarrassed, and then replied, in French, that he wore his hair in this manner to hide a mark on his brow.

"What is the mark?" he was asked. He tossed his hair back and exhibited a skillfully-executed piece of tattooing, which on examination proved to be a text from the Bible.

done in minute but perfect letters. It was in French, and read: "Dieu est mon Berger, je n'aurai besoin de rien." ("God is my Shepherd, I need nothing.") He stated that the tattooing was done at the request of a cranky aunt when he was a twelve-year-old boy.

Wonders of Minute Animal Life.
 The following, which might very appropriately bear the heading of "A Wonder of Wonders," is from the pen of Sir Robert S. Ball, F. R. S., astronomer royal of Ireland. "The microscope teaches us that there are animals so wonderfully minute that if a thousand of them were ranked almost they could easily swim, without being thrown out of order, through the eye of the finest cambric needle ever made. Yet each of the minute creatures is a highly organized number of particles, capable of moving about, of feeding and devouring food and of behaving in a manner as becoming as an animal distinguished from a fragment of unorganized matter. The human mind is utterly incapable of realizing the structure of these little creatures, and of fully appreciating their marvelous adaptation to the life they are destined to lead."

All who use it say it is the most perfect remedy for Cough Cold, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, they have never tried." It is especially for Croup and Whooping Cough. It will relieve a Cough in one minute. Contains no opiates.

LIVING WITH SNAKES.

Keeping the Creatures Alive is a Delicate Task.

An Enthusiast Who Has Visited Every Snake-infested Country to Study the Reptiles—Assisted by His Young Son.

So long as human nature retains its instinctive dislike to anything that crawls or creeps, the practice of keeping snakes is not likely to extend far beyond its present limits. Most people, probably, would find it exceedingly difficult to name anyone addicted to this propensity. Dr. Arthur Stradling, says the London Sketch, declares it to be, in his case, hereditary. His father was fond of snakes, and his son, nine years of age, is devoted to them and experiences absolutely no fear in their presence. How far the boy, who figures in the illustration, will develop his taste remains to be seen; of the father it may be said that he has devoted the leisure—enforced leisure it may have been, some of it, for the sake of the cause—of a lifetime to the study of snakes. In pursuit of his hobby, which he himself calls "ophiomania," he has visited every snake-infested country of the globe—arriving unaccompanied by no other person but a boy, with a similar object. Having in the tropics lived in constant and close companionship with serpents, it is not unusual that at Westford he should be still surrounded by them.

"You surmise that the place is always heated," says the doctor. "On a burning day and night, I use naked unventilated gas for warmth, and, as you can see, my reptiles are as healthy as can be. Indeed, I pride myself upon the fact that I rear and keep many delicate species which invariably die in zoological gardens and other menageries. That lizard without legs I had for thirteen years. You say you fancied you heard the gas escaping? Oh, not that was one of the snakes. The fumes in a hot temper are being disturbed. Just now I have a particularly good collection of box-crocodiles, but rattlesnakes are my 'first love.' I am just beginning to adopt my method of cranking."

MASTER REPTILIAN.
 Universally. Anything up to twelve or fourteen feet it can manage single-handed, but in dealing with stock above that length it invokes the assistance of my head keeper, my little boy. A bag is of some service to restrain the movements of the body and render it amenable to control—I once got two ribs broken while manipulating a West African pythoness of thirteen feet. The process is not an elegant one; with half a hundredweight of live, hot snake-flesh writhing and wriggling and grinding one's leg appears. With shirt sleeves rolled up and stockinged feet, I grasp the creature just behind the head and separate its jaws by gentle pressure with a silver spatula; its more knack than force, for all snakes are exceedingly sensitive about the mouth—light tap on the muzzle will turn the fiercest of them. Then the assistant goes the lump of meat, dead rat, bird, or whatever the morsel may be, right in among the quivering triple rows of long, curved teeth, quivering rows of long and walking with the agitation of anger on the mobile jaws—and I push it down to the stomach, first with a ruler, and then by squeezing upon it with my hands from the outside, a mechanical sensation which requires to be maintained for some little time, in order to insure that the item of diet shall remain in statu quo. In the intervals the youngster is not idle and made plenty of occupation in shifting the reptile's coils and disengaging one or two parts of me from a too close embrace. And so we all the best up to the end of the day. If we have nothing but meat, dead rat, bird, or whatever the morsel may be, right in among the quivering triple rows of long, curved teeth, quivering rows of long and walking with the agitation of anger on the mobile jaws—and I push it down to the stomach, first with a ruler, and then by squeezing upon it with my hands from the outside, a mechanical sensation which requires to be maintained for some little time, in order to insure that the item of diet shall remain in statu quo.
